This fund aims to deliver a monthly income to investors, while looking to preserve and grow the investment to overcome the effects of inflation. The wide range of investments includes bonds and shares in global companies and infrastructure companies e.g. toll roads. Capital invested in the Fund is at risk and there is no guarantee that the investment objective will be met. The Fund may use currency hedging techniques to reduce exposure to currencies other than Sterling. The fund utilises both active management and passive strategies in its implementation.

Suggested use

We've designed this fund to seek to yield more than bank deposits, while aiming not to deplete capital (as with other, less efficient income strategies). It is likely to be suitable for income needs where the capital may need to be put to use at a later date (such as school fees), or for ongoing living expenses where you'd want the income to increase with inflation.

We actively manage the allocations between different asset types in the Multi Asset Income Fund with the aim of greater consistency of income.

What happened this month?

The Fund delivered a positive return in May. Falling US inflation, renewed optimism over potential rate cuts by major central banks, and positive economic data from the UK and Europe, boosted both equity and fixed income markets. In this market environment, our exposure to risk-bearing high yield bonds fared the best as credit spreads tightened. Our exposure to rate-sensitive government bonds and investment grade credit was also additive as yields fell, as was our allocation to emerging market debt. Within equities, our bias towards high dividend yielding stocks was beneficial as defensive stocks did well. Our small allocation to listed real estate and broader commodities was favourable given the decline in yields, and higher gold prices, respectively.

Source: Russell Investments as at May 31, 2024. All returns are cumulative, in GBP, net of C Class Fees. The fund is priced at market open (7am) so Fund prices have been moved a day later with benchmarks which price at market close (7pm).

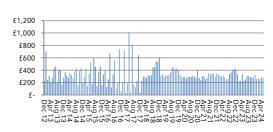

The Fund does not have a benchmark. The absence of a benchmark is because the Fund has a flexible allocation between equity and fixed income investments driven by the objective of targeting an annualised yield of 4%, meaning that there is no index or sector that would be an appropriate comparator. Performance of the Fund can be assessed against the range of asset classes in which it invests, in proportion to its holdings in these asset classes. Information to facilitate this assessment will be provided to investors on a quarterly basis via the fund's factsheet. The factsheet will be made available to intermediaries.
