Manulife Macro Currency Fund (the "Fund")

Class A EUR Accumulating IE00BDZ7R615

A sub-fund of Manulife Investment Management I PLC (the "Company")

OBJECTIVES AND INVESTMENT POLICY

Investment Objective: The Fund aims to provide you with positive absolute return over a typical market cycle (e.g. rolling 3-year periods) by identifying and exploiting investment opportunities across currency markets while controlling the level of risk in the Fund's portfolio. The Fund employs an actively managed investment strategy. The Fund uses 3-month EURIBOR as a benchmark for performance comparison purposes only and does not track the performance of this rate or any of the hurdle rates specified in the supplement by currency.

Investment Policies: The Fund will only invest in currencies which meet certain criteria, namely currencies that the Sub-Investment Manager believes have generally predictable drivers of supply and demand and are independent (i.e. not pegged to another currency). The following currencies meet these criteria as of the date hereof: Australian Dollar, British Pound, Canadian Dollar, Euro, Japanese Yen, New Zealand Dollar, Norwegian Kroner, Singaporean Dollar, Swedish Krona, Swiss Franc and United States Dollar. The Sub-Investment Manager will make investment decisions based on pricing anomalies between currencies. Such pricing anomalies may be created by macro-economic factors, currency flows in foreign markets and by changes in investor appetite for any given currency.

The Fund may invest in currency spot transactions, currency forward transactions, currency swaps, currency futures and options on currencies. A spot transaction is an exchange of currencies at the prevailing market rate. Forwards are customised contracts between two parties to buy or sell another security at a specified price on a future date. A currency swap involves an exchange of currencies at a specified price on a future date with a reverse exchange at a later date at a specified price. Futures are contracts, undertaken on an exchange, that create an obligation to buy or sell another security on or before a specified future date. Options are contracts where the buyer has the right, but not the obligation, to buy or sell another security at a specific price on or before a specified future date.

The Fund may invest up to 10% of its assets in other collective investment schemes which have a currency investment focus. The Fund may also invest, for ancillary liquidity purposes, in money market instruments and/or government bonds. Money market instruments are debt securities that generally give the owner the unconditional right to receive a stated, fixed sum of money on a specified future date. Debt securities are investments where the holder receives a return in the form of periodic payments and the eventual return of the principal at maturity. Government bonds are a type of debt security.

Distribution Policy: This class is an accumulating class. All earnings, dividends and other distributions of whatever kind will be accumulated and reinvested pursuant to the investment objectives and policies of the Fund.

Fund Currency: The base currency of the Fund is EUR.

Share Class Currency: The currency of this class is EUR.

Dealing Frequency: You may buy and sell shares on any day on which the Irish Stock Exchange and New York Stock Exchange are open for regular business.

This Fund is intended as a long-term investment, and therefore may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money within the short to medium term.

RISK AND REWARD PROFILE

This indicator is calculated in line with EU regulations based on the risk limit for the Fund and is not a reliable indication of the future risk profile. The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time. The lowest category does not mean a risk-free investment. The Fund is exposed to additional risks not captured by this indicator including, without limitation:

Active Management Risk: Relying heavily on active management subjects the Fund to risk. The performance of the Fund depends on the Sub-Investment Manager's ability to choose good investments.

Credit and Counterparty Risk: There is a risk that the issuer of debt securities or a counterparty to a derivatives contract may not be able to meet interest, principal or settlement payments or otherwise honour its obligations.

Currency Risk: There is a risk of loss arising from exchange-rate fluctuations or exchange control regulations, particularly as currency markets may display high volatility and a capacity for large price fluctuations over short time periods.

Derivatives Risk: The complexity and rapidly changing structure of derivatives markets may increase the possibility of market losses.

Leverage Risk: Borrowing and leverage may magnify smaller adverse market movements into relatively larger losses.

Liquidity Risk: During certain times, the Fund's investments may become difficult to sell which may result in delays when you sell your shares.

Model and Data Risk: There is a risk that information used in the proprietary quantitative models utilised by the Fund may be incorrect or incomplete thereby exposing the Fund to potential risk. This includes the Fund's ability to sell assets at the price the Fund would like, or the Fund may have to sell them at a loss.

Operational Risk: Material losses to the Fund may arise as a result of human error, system and/or process failures, and/or inadequate procedures.

Sovereign Debt Risk: There is a risk that the sovereign governments and governmental entities may refuse to honour their payment obligations on issued or guaranteed bonds. There is no adequate legal process for collecting sovereign debt that is not repaid nor are there bankruptcy proceedings through which unpaid sovereign debt may be collected.

Additional information on these and other risks associated with an investment in the Fund can be found in the prospectus, in the section entitled "Investment Risks and Special Considerations" and "Investment Risks Applicable to each Fund".
