Fund update

The Fund outperformed in a positive month for Emerging Markets. The Fund's growth exposure was positive although value and small cap stocks underperformed. Effective stock selection was a key relative performance driver. This was strongest within Taiwan (information technology), South Korea (information technology) and India (industrials). Positive selection effects within Brazil were outweighed by positioning (overweight). Positioning towards select stocks within China (underweight Li Auto, Meituan) weighed on further outperformance.
